

JOHN H. BIEBER

Associate

jbieber@whe-law.com

John Bieber is an Associate in the firm's Chemical/Biotech/Materials Practice Group, with a focus on patent preparation and prosecution, patentability searches and opinions, and patent infringement litigation and licensing opportunities. Prior to joining the firm, John gained valuable experience and insight into manufacturing processes and fertilizer compositions by working on at a fertilizer manufacturing facility. While a law student, John enhanced his intellectual property expertise by frequently contributing IP-centered articles to the University of Cincinnati Law Review and by serving as Managing Editor of the University of Cincinnati Intellectual Property and Computer Law Journal. He will always say yes to a game of chess, and he follows the Grand Chess Tour when time permits. John currently resides in Newport, Kentucky.
